Dear Dr. David Wilder,

On behalf of the Accreditation Board of the Association for Behavior Analysis International (ABAI), I am pleased to inform you that the Board has renewed full accreditation of the M.S. program in Behavior Analysis at Florida Institute of Technology. The M.S. program's accreditation now extends through December 31, 2024.

During this period, your program is required to share its accreditation status and display the ABAI Accreditation Board masters-level accreditation seal in compliance with the Board's policy on public disclosure of accreditation status. To maintain accreditation, your program must remain in compliance with the Board's policies and procedures, including the submission of an annual report and annual accreditation fees, during the first quarter each year the program is accredited. If your program chooses to re-apply for accreditation before the current term expires, a new self-study will need to be submitted to the Board before April 1, 2024. More information about the policies and procedures relevant to maintaining accreditation can be found on the Board's website: <https://accreditation.abainternational.org>

Accreditation is specifically designed to convey information about a training program's comprehensiveness, rigor, and quality. Its purpose is to promote quality control within the discipline's training programs. The Board would like to extend its appreciation to your program for helping to preserve the integrity of the field's training programs.

The site visitors raised question as to whether items 2-106, 2-108, 5-101, 5-102, and Standard 6 were met. After reviewing the self-study, site visit report, and your program's response, the Board is satisfied with your response to the site visitors' questions about faculty, fiscal, and physical resources (including research space and practicum sites). The Board appreciates the collegial nature of your response to the site visit report and the clearly developed plans to implement changes, some of which are already in effect.

If you have any questions about accreditation, please do not hesitate to contact me. Additionally, if your program assigns a new Program Administrator during the current term, please notify the Board immediately so we may update our records.

Sincerely,
